

Looking for that perfect transition assessment fit for every single one of your students and their individualized goals?!

Well... you can stop looking because you won't find it!

Transition Assessment is an ongoing PROCESS of collecting information about a student's Preferences, Interests, Needs, and Strengths or Skills (commonly known as PINS).

There isn't one magical assessment that will help you identify each student's unique PINS, but you will find an assortment of tools, strategies, videos, and other resources to help you individualize transition assessment for every student at OCALI's online Planning for AATA Guide.
