

“My Favorites” Preference and Reinforcement Survey

Directions for Person Disseminating the Survey:

This fill-in-the-blank survey should be completed by the individual from whom you wish to gather information. It offers them the chance to share what motivates them and to identify the rewards or reinforcements they find most valuable. The survey can be completed independently by the individual or conducted as an interview, based on their preference and ability. The information collected will help determine the reinforcers that have the greatest potential for use in a plan for behavior support.
